SynGeo ArchiGraphy is a consulting company that focuses on regional and global designs. We provide general directions, through conceptual and mathematical modeling, for infrastructural rebuilding, agricultural regeneration, wildland restoration, and meeting human needs. The firm provides comprehensive system designs to regional, national, and international governments. The firm offers services not available elsewhere through traditional design; it provides coordination and project management services to other design agencies.

Regional & Global Designs

SynGeo starts by examining what is in a place, then considers what nature encourages in a place, and finally what we are capable of adding to a place, that all beings may live and live well. SynGeo designs are conscious efforts to impose meaningful order on places, within important limits. SynGeo works within the constraints of nature, believing that the constraints merely stimulate creativity. Our designs enhance human self-worth and self-reliance, enrich whole communities, and permit the continuity of natural patterns and flows.
